A NOTE FROM FR. PATRICK

This weekend brings National Vocation Awareness Week to a close, but our prayer and encouragement for vocations should never come to an end. Every one of us has a vocation—a particular calling from God to holiness and to a life of love and service. Whether through marriage, the priesthood, the permanent diaconate, or consecrated religious life, the Lord invites each of us to discover the way in which we are called to give our lives generously to Him.

For those who are discerning a vocation, I would offer one important piece of advice: Don't spend all your time trying to figure out what you are supposed to do with your life. Instead, focus on being open to what God has already figured out for you. God knows you better than you know yourself. He created you with a purpose and has a plan for your life. Discernment is not about convincing God to bless the plans we have made for ourselves; it is about allowing Him to show us the plans He has already prepared. This requires prayer, patience, trust, and the courage to say, "Speak, Lord, your servant is listening."

I also want to speak particularly to parents and families. One of the greatest gifts we can give our children is the freedom and encouragement to discover God's will for their lives. We naturally have hopes and dreams for our children. We want them to be happy, successful, and fulfilled. But we must be careful that our hopes and expectations never become obstacles to what God might be asking of them. If a son expresses an interest in the priesthood or a daughter begins discerning religious life, encourage them! Do not dismiss the possibility, discourage them, or make them feel that pursuing such a vocation would somehow disappoint the family. A child's vocation is not something a parent should fear losing; it is something to be received with gratitude and generosity. What greater blessing could there be than knowing that your child is giving his or her life completely to Christ and His Church?

In the Diocese of Superior, we are blessed to have nine seminarians currently discerning and preparing for the priesthood. These young men need our prayers, encouragement, and support as they continue to listen for the Lord's call. Their journeys remind us that vocations are nurtured through families, parish communities, faithful priests, and people who are willing to encourage young men and women to consider how God might be calling them.

I encourage you to explore the discernment resources available through the Vocations Office of the Diocese of Superior, whose website is Called North (www.callednorth.org). There you will find resources for men and women discerning God's call, including Friends of the Bridegroom, which offers encouragement and support for women discerning consecrated religious life. Discernment is not something we need to figure out alone. It is a journey of growing closer to Christ and allowing Him to reveal the next step.

Finally, I strongly encourage everyone to consider joining the Prayer Ministry for Vocations through the Diocese of Superior Vocations Office. Through the Called North website (www.callednorth.org), you can learn about this prayer ministry and make a commitment to pray for our nine seminarians, those discerning a vocation, and an increase in priestly and religious vocations throughout our diocese. You do not have to be a priest, religious sister, or someone actively discerning a vocation to make a difference. Every one of us can participate through prayer.

May our homes and parishes become places where young men and women feel free to ask the question, "Lord, what are You calling me to do with my life?" And may the answer never be clouded by our fears, expectations, or preconceived plans, but received with the trust that God's plans are always greater than our own.

Diocese of Superior Vocations Prayer

O God, we earnestly ask you to bless our diocese with many priests, brothers, sisters, and deacons who will love you with their whole mind and heart, and gladly spend their entire lives serving your Church, and making you known and loved. Bless our families, bless our children, and choose from our homes those needed for your work. Mary, Queen of the Clergy, pray for us. Pray for our priests, religious and deacons. Obtain for us many more. We ask this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Confirmation Thank You

This Sunday, 46 students from Holy Rosary, Good Shepherd, OLPH, and Sacred Heart, along with students from St. Francis Xavier in Merrill and St. John Baptist in Bloomville, will receive the Sacrament of Confirmation. Thank you to the parents and sponsors of the students. Your support of the students was very helpful in preparing the students to take this step in their Faith Development. I need to say, "Thank You" to a number of people. To Tom Mayer and the ladies who made the church look great. To Frese Frame Photography for being here to take pictures. To the ushers who helped with the large crowd. To the Priests, Deacons, and the Bishop for being here to support the students. To the choir for the music during Mass. Finally, to all the religious education volunteers who helped guide the students in their faith development for the last 12 years. You sacrificed your time and talents as you prepared these students to become full members of our Faith.

The first week of Advent starts on Sunday, Nov. 29. Advent is a four-week season of waiting, reflection, and spiritual preparation for the coming of Jesus Christ. Supporting Our Adopted Seminarian – Andrew Smith

As a One Family Catholic Community, we are blessed to accompany Andrew Smith as he discerns and prepares for the priesthood. We encourage everyone to keep Andrew in their daily prayers, asking the Lord to strengthen and guide him. You can also support him by sending cards or letters of encouragement and offering a Mass for his intentions each month. Even these small gestures can mean a great deal. Let us remind Andrew that he is supported by a community praying for him as he continues to answer God's call!
